Invested in Success

The continued growth of Harrisburg University of Science and Technology requires many partners working hand-in-hand with our faculty, students and staff. We could not provide the high-quality Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) education without the philanthropic investments, internships, mentoring and other innovative collaborative efforts from our public and private sector partners.

These partners understand that investing in Harrisburg University not only enables our students to thrive in highly sought-after STEM careers, but also positions our region—and our nation—to be a competitive force in the global economy. We are deeply grateful to all of our partners for their vision, leadership and commitment to our students. Thank you for investing in our success.
